The convention is being held in Knights of Pythias hall on Elm street. The room is filled with tables and around these are gathered this representative body of active, intelligent Texans, and to these agents Professor Stewart propounds problems and gathers solutions, and the scene is not unlike what might be considered very similar to a civil service examination. That such work enables the agents of the Mutual life to go forth peculiarly fitted for the furtherance of this grand and growing subject, scarcely needs to be said.

The social side of matters is not neglected, and the appearance of the entire

Foster Strikes a Mare's Nest-

Special to the Gazette. Washington, July 15.—The secretary of the treasury is just at present examining the leave of absence list of the treasury department. His investigation is bringing forth some rather startling facts in regard to the system. Each clerk in the department is allowed thirty days leave of absence every year, and in addition to this the government is very lenient in the matter of "sick leaves." By custom an arrangement can be made by which an employe can obtain from the chief clerk of his division an extension of his sick leave by providing a competent substitute. In his examination of the extending list Secretary Foster learned that some of his high-priced officials have been absent month after month attending to their private business, and had Washington, July 15 .- The secretary of attending to their private business, and had substitutes doing their work for them at half pay. Indeed it is stated that one chief of a division who holds a most lucrative position, has during three years been at his post so little that he does not know the clerks in his office. During all this time the chief has paid some substitute a portion of his salary, though it goes without saying, of course, that some other unhappy clerk has been compelled to do all the responsible work for which the absent chief of the division was drawing his full pay. A number of similar cases have been discovered though none as outroscous as this though none so outrageous as this though none so outrageous as this.

Secretary Foster has accordingly issued an order to all absentees to report to him at once the nature of their illness and their present place of abode, attested by the proper medical certificate, and it is likely, therefore, that by the next pay-day the present sick-leave list will be much curtailed and some chiefs will have an opportunity of doing the work for which they are drawing salaries. drawing salaries.

LIFE INSURANCE INSTRUCTION.

The second day's session of the convention of agents of the Mutual life insurance company was held in Dallas to-day, and the third and last day will be to-morrow. This is a unique assembly, in that it is a system of instruction to its agents pursued alone by the Mutual life among the many life companies of this country, and the object of such a gathering is for the purpose of its agents receiving periodically such a drill in the scientific side of life insurance that the public may reap the benefit of reliable and exact information on this growing subject, and that the plans and numerous improvements introduced by the progressive Mutual life may be thoroughly understood by the public, whence its membership is drawn.

Professor William P. Stewart, special actuary and instructor of agents of the Mutual life, arrived in Dallas this week for the purpose of presiding over this body of agents. He comes direct from the home office, and being, as he is, the originator of very many of the modern ideas of invest ment life insurance as practiced by the leading American companies, and as an authority in financial circles in the East, is authority in financial circles in the East, is peculiarly adapted by his wide experience and great learning to thus impart to these gentlemen who meet him the intricacies of his profession, which in turn they will convey to the public in their fields of work. iety of leaders.

The momination of the Cincinnati man for the office of supreme judge, it was said, helped to some extent to allay the feeling of Hamilton's delegates to the candidacy of Governor Campbell, but whether this desired effect will be realized is altogether weblanatical and examine the desired of the candidacy of the control of the candidacy of the sired effect will be realized is altogether problematical, and can only be determined by time. It must be stated that Governor Campbell's majority managed the convention with consummate tact. Knotty pariamentary questions were quickly and decisively disposed of by rulings generally to the advantage of the dominant faction and roll-calls on points of order and appeals from the chair's decisions were averted. At the same time the majority received with all publications and control of the majority received with all philosophical resignation of victory the taunts and accusations that were thrown at them and their candidate by the anti-Campbell faction, thus probably averting a calamitous row, which would likely have resulted had all these gibes been returned in kind.

The persistant refusal of Neal, Governor Campbell's defeated opponent, to appear before the convention and even after the committee had been ap-pointed to convey to him a formal invitapointed to convey to him a formal invita-tion, has contributed more than anything else to the feeling of anxiety which pervades the Democratic ranks this evening. It is generally the ordeal inflicted upon every defeated candidate that he must mount the stage and tell "how grateful he is" after all that such a good man as his opponent has received the nom-ination, but Neal persistently refused to underge this ordeal, and the question is now, "was this refusal actuated by mortifi-cation and wounded pride, or does it mean that Neal throws down the gauntlet and will permit his Hamilton county friends to fight Governor Campbell at the polls! Upon the answer to this query largely depends the question of Democratic victory or defeat in the coming election.

CLEVELAND, OBIO, July 15 .- One of the largest and most inharmonious conventions ever assembled in the history of Ohio Demorracy met in this city at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The re-nomination of Gov-erner Campbell had been conceded by his opponents since last evening, but their sturdy determination to refuse, after the formal result should be assured, the time honored courtesy of a unanimous nomina-tion wrought dismay in the hearts of all those who deciare that in a united and haronious Democracy rests the only hope of victory in the coming campaign.

The vast music hall in which the conven-

It is a party whose legislation has in every way and at all times assisted England in her attempt to establish monometalism; a party that, in a short reign of two years added 3000 names to the list of office holders; a party that blocked all legislation for months in an endeavor to enact the infamous williamous and partison force bill. famous, villainous and partisan force bill, a bill under which they expected by fraud and intimidation

TO PERPETUATE THEMSELVES IN POWER. The time is near when the people will ex-press their belief in complete, and not re-stricted, reciprocity; when they will no stricted, reciprocity; when they will holonger sustain any party which levies and collects one dollar of the people's money above which is required to economically administer the affairs of the government; when they will give due notice that the infant industries that have been nursed for one hundred years have arrived at an age when they must take care of themselves; when they will brand a protective tariff as stealing, its advocates as beggars and demand that we must have a tariff for revenue

I most earnestly beseach the farmers whose interests are identically the same as my own, not to follow this wild scheme of the government loaning money upon warehouse certificates or upon lands, the taking possession of the railways and telegraphs by the government, internal improvements and other minor issues that provements and other minor issues that lead not only to greater taxation, but to THE RAYSEST KIND OF SOCIALISM.

I say to them, put this scheme to one side and stick to the tariff issue until you get what is due you. On this issue the right is absolutely on our side, and a challenge having been fairly given by the nomination of the high chief of protection. Maj. McKinley, let us meet it, and make every hill top and every valley in the whole state ring with the battle-cry, "industrial freedom for the many." the many. In conclusion, Mr. Thurman characterized the McKinley tariff law as class legis-tion of the most vicious tendency. As an illustration he 'instanced' tin plate, which for fifteen years had been protected by a 36 per cent duty. Last winter a few gen-tlemen said that if Mr. McKinley would only raise the tax so they could be assured of making $4,000,000 a year, they would be perfectly willing SACRIFICE THEMSELVES in an attempt to manufacture it. Now, Me-Kinley said, "Certainly I will; what does a little matter of $8,000,000 amount to to a people who own a billion-dollar country!" people who own a billion-dollar country!"

He increased the 36 per cent duty to 76 per cent. The iniquitous feature of this increased duty put upon tin plate was that the new tariff was made to take effect not upon the passage of the act, but six months after, thereby enabling them to purchase all of this article that could be produced in England and Wales, import to this country under the old rate, hold it until duly I and then sell it to the American consumer under the new rate.

This, though, is only one of the many outrageous things that these tin soldiers got Maj. McKinley to incorporate in his bill, for there is not a line that does not either express or conceal some ingenuity. No wonder the protected classes wanted it. No wonder they poured out money like water, intimidated the workmen and

There-fore I implore every man in this convention to work after he leaves here with his whole soul for our success. Let no personal difference or feelings of disappointment in any way deter you, but be diligent, be active, be alert. Organize in every school district and above all be courageous. Let there be no dodging of the issue. This is no time for faint hearts, but a time when honest, brave men should be willing to fight with their whole power for what they know to be

Ex-Congressman Frank Leblond of Mercer county was made permanent chairman. The report of the committee on rules was presented and adopted, and Chairman Fin ley of the committee on resolutions, then presented the following majority report of that committee:

We are opposed to all class legislation, and believe in a tariff levied for the sole purpose of producing a revenue sufficient to defray the legitimate expenses of the government economically administered we accept the issue tendered to us by the Republican party on the subject of the tariff as represented by the so-called McKinley tariff act. We favor a graded income tax. We denounce the demonetization of silver in 1873 by the party then in nower as an injunitors alteration of power as an iniquitons alteration of the money standard in favor of creditors and against the debtors, tax payers and producers; and we demand the reinstatement of the constitutional standard of both ment of the constitutional standard of both gold and silver, with the equal rights of each to free and unlimited coinage. We denounce the Republican billion-dol-iar congress, which, by extravagant ex-penditure, exhausted the surplus in the penditure, exhausted the surplus in the national treasury left there by the Demo-cratic administration and created a deficit, which substituted despotic rule for free discussion in the house of representatives, and we congratulate the people on the defeat of the edious force by the Agrandant and churchend by the Republicant manifest at the contract of the contract can president and championed by the Re publican party. We are opposed to the enactment of all laws which unnecessarily interfere with the habits and customs of any of our people which are not offen-sive to the moral sentiment of the civilized world, and we believe that the personal rights of the individual should be curtailed only when it is essential to main-tain the peace, good order and welfare of the community.

the Russian government justly deserves and receives our unqualified censure. We extend to them our sincere sympathies, and believe that this government, in connection with the enlightened governments of Eu-rope disposed to unite with us, should take proper steps to alleviate the wrongs thus inflicted on this long suffering and oppressed people.

The first contest in the convention aros over the adoption of the committee report on credentials. Delegates from the Twenty-fifth ward of Cincinnati and the Hamilton county delegation were the subject of the wrangie. The Hamilton county delegation generally pulled against the report of the committee and supported the minority report. Nobody but the Hamilton county delegates appeared to fully understand the points in dispute and D. J. Cogan, secretary of the convention made an expensive of the convention made and secretary of the convention made an ex-planation amid many interruptions from Hamilton county delegates and was replied to by Judge Ermston of Cincinnati. and 'the gang.' "

There was one wild enthusiastic of applause when Gen. Michael Regan of Cincinnati arose to nominate Campbell. Hats were flung in the air, handkerchiefs and umbrellas swung in time to the wild acclaim of enthusiasm which swept over the convention. After wild acclaim of enthusiasm which swept over the convention. After John A. Ritchie of Lucas county had seconded Campbell's nomination and A. R. Boly of Pickaway county seconded Neal's nomination, the roll was finally ordered to be called. From the very beginning Campbell led all his competitors. The announcement of each delegation was received with cheers by the friends of the candidate who received the majority of the votes. When Hamilton county was reached, and Campbell even received four votes from the stronghold of the opposition, his friends the opposition, his friends with enthusiasm. When the result was finally announced showing Campbell's nomination there was another repetition of the wild scenes of enthusiasm of the day. While the delegates cheered and waved their handkerchiefs, and tossed their handkerchiefs, and tossed their handkerchiefs. hats, the bands in the galleries struck up "The Campbells Are Coming." There was dissent only from the Hamilton county dele-

The official vote was Campbell, 50s 7-16; Neal, 134 9-16; Kline, 50, and Congressman Johnson 1 vote.

"On behalf of Cuyahoga county," said Dodge, the leader of the Kline mea, "I move that we make the nomination of Campbell unanimous." [Applause.]

The motion was quickly put and declared on a viva voce vote, the Neal men failing to demand the yeas and nays. The Hamilton county men voted no in chorus, however and as if to emphasize their opposition repeated "No, no, no," for half a minute-Following the announcement that the motion had prevailed they hissed and retion had prevailed they hissed and re-peated "no." notwithstanding cries of "shame, shame," from the Cuyahoga county delegation.

Campbell then appeared, and as the familiar face of the governor was discerned in the hall another burst of enthusiasm m the nan amother burst of chimusiasia marked the proceedings.

"I introduce to you the present and fu-ture governor," said the chairman briefly, and Governor Campbell stepped to the front and delivered a brief and fitting speech.
